

XIII. THE EQUIPMENT

There is very little needed to be said in this section. Firstly refer to all book disclaimers before studying equipment recommendations!

Do not use any equipment that has electrodes or induction loop or anything which is bulky or which has a power supply either 110V or 240V to run a device.

Simply invest in equipment which is no more “harmful” (if you are concerned by EMF) than your mobile phone, fridge, TV.

There are devices - frequency generators - on the market which have nothing but an induction module built in. Those devices are no more powerful than any of your home devices.

Remember - this is not about the power. Power has nothing to add to Rife!

One of my discoveries is the homeopathic Rifing.

It is actually the opposite to what you may desire - the smaller the field the better application. And this is the whole point. Small field is as brilliant as a massive plasma generator. Unlike what your mind says. This was also my concern. But after months of testing the discovery is - go with small output. It is as powerful as plasma.

Everything is about the correct frequency! And going too powerful may mean you could induce a very severe herxheimer reaction.

So please stick to simplicity.

All you want is a simple and small device the size of your mobile phone. Such a device can have a cover as big as 6-10m. No wires or electrodes!

And the most important thing is - it does not matter if you are pregnant or if you have a pacemaker. This device cannot affect a child you may be bearing or the pacemaker keeping your heart going.

Remember - prevention is better than fixing problems!

For the recommendations on frequency generators go to the web:

www.TheLawOfFrequencies.com

The web will provide information as well as best prices as whom to use.

And the prices will shock you how little can be spent to get a magnificent piece of equipment which will be saving you lots of pain and money on drugs and pseudo treatment.
